MORE WORK FOR SPAR MAKERS

Will Make Set of Hollow Spars for New Torpedo Boat.

The spar makers' department at the navy yard under Foreman Charles A. Wendell is still making good in keeping the cost of manufacturing below other yards and the navy department has just ordered a set of hollow spars manufactured at this yard for one of the new torpedo boats that is fitting out at the League Island navy yard. When the spars are ready they are to be shipped to that yard for an experimental test of the wireless on torpedo boats and if this test proves successful, these spars will all be manufactured at this navy yard, as none of the other yards are equipped for doing hollow spar work.

ANOTHER OIL STOVE FATALITY

Mrs. Amanda M. Jellison Found By Firemen in Cellar Suffocated and Burned--Had Been Washing When Clothes Caught Fire From Stove.

Mrs. Amanda M. Jellison, aged 69, of Lincoln avenue, was burned to death on Monday afternoon in a fire, which considerably damaged her home.

Mrs. Jellison was alone in the house at the time, her son, Percy Jellison, and his wife being at her parents' home at Waterdown, Mass., over the holidays. The first known of the tragedy was when neighbors discovered smoke coming from an upper window.

An alarm was sent in from box 67 at the corner of Lafayette and Middle roads, and when the apparatus arrived the fire was in the cellar and on the first floor, while the house was thick with smoke.

Mrs. Jellison's absence was quickly noted, and a quick search of the upper rooms failed to locate her, and on the arrival of the department were also notified and Chief Woods himself went through the cellar, but the smoke was so thick that he had to feel his way and was fortunate not to be overcome. At first the fire was very hot in the cellar and it was necessary to use two streams before anybody could get into the cellar.

A search was again made of the house, but while the neighbors were confident that she was in the building, nobody could locate her. A hunt was again started in the cellar, now filled with water, and Edward Marent found the body of Mrs. Jellison, calling Charles Kehoe of the No. 4 company, they carried her out. She was lying near the foot of the stairs, and when found the greater part of her clothing was burned off and she was lying face down in the water. She had been dead some little time in all probability before the fire was extinguished.

COAL BUCKET KILLS SHOVELER

Caught in Jaws of Hoisting Apparatus at Railroad Coal Shed.

Muhamet Beketesh, a shoveler employed at the locomotive coaling plant of the Boston & Maine road in Concord, was instantly killed on Monday by getting his neck caught in the steel jaws of the clam shell bucket used in hoisting the coal from cars and yard to the coaling tower.

Beketesh had been in the country for only a year, and in the employ of the road for a week and was about 24 years of age, and so far as known a cousin, whom the authorities are now trying to locate, is the only living relative.

The accident occurred soon after Beketesh had reported for work at 7 this morning. He was engaged in shovelling coal from beneath the trestle in order to give the bucket a chance at it, and in throwing a shovel full out he slipped and fell onto the pile directly beneath the bucket, the jaws of which closed about his neck, practically decapitating him, and killing him instantly.

WEISMAN--HETT.

Popular Young Couple Joined in Wedlock--Will Reside in Cleveland.

The wedding of two popular young people was solemnized at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning when Miss Clara A. Hett of this city became the wife of John T. Weisman of Cleveland, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward J. Walsh, P. R. The bride wore a pretty gown of blue chiffon over white silk with Persian band trimmings. The couple left shortly after the ceremony for a short wedding trip at the conclusion of which they will reside in Cleveland, where the groom holds a position as head of the drafting department of the General Electric Company. Many costly and useful gifts testified to the esteem in which the contracting parties are held. The bride is the daughter of John August Hett and a favorite with her many young associates who now join in extending best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Weisman for a long and happy wedded life.

ADEQUATE SERVICE.

Maine Railroad Commissioners So Decide Regarding York Harbor and Beach Railroad.

The Maine railroad commissioners who recently held a hearing on the petition of the residents of Kittery and York for better train service on the York Harbor & Beach railroad, have decided that the train service is adequate. They have however ordered the railroad to maintain a freight and passenger station at Kittery Point as was requested by the petitioners from Kittery.

POLICE GET DESERTER.

One of the Crew of the Reina Mercedes Arrested in Greenland.

Hugh L. Dotson a fireman on the receiving ship Reina Mercedes, at Annapolis, who has been missing since February 12, was arrested today by officers Kelley and Shannon, at a farm near the Greenland line on a request from Commander Phelps of the vessel. Dotson was later turned over to the commanding officer of the U. S. S. Southey at the navy yard.

POLICE COURT.

Sylvester Wright was before Judge Torrey in the District Court today to answer to the charge of an assault. The arrest was made on the complaint of the mother of a six year old girl and the child testified in her own behalf in court today, repeating the former story she told the police previous to the arrest of the defendant. Wright pleaded not guilty but later admitted part of the story. The court ordered a sentence of 90 days in jail and costs of $9.81. He appealed and gave bonds in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the April term of court.

STILL ALARM.

The men from the Central fire station were called this Tuesday morning to the house on Cabot street occupied by Mrs. James Ward to fight a chimney fire. The blaze proved a stubborn one, but was extinguished with only slight damage.

A FEELING OF ANXIETY

Senate May Discuss the Mexican Situation, But it Will be Behind Closed Doors--Japan and France May Land Marines

Washington, Feb. 23--Regardless of whether the execution of Wallace S. Benson, a British subject by General Villa, was justified, today's developments emphasized clearly that protection for foreigners in rebel-ruled Mexico had become a commanding problem of increased international independence, appreciated no less by President Wilson than by leaders in Congress. Briefly, these were the day's developments: After a conference with President Wilson, Acting Chairman Shively of the senate foreign relations committee, and members of the committee reached an understanding that the Mexican question if taken up in the senate should be discussed behind closed doors. Pending resolutions looked to netter protection for foreigners will be taken up soon by the senate. The discussion in the British parliament of the Benson accident was read with much interest by officials who observed particularly that the United States was not held responsible by Sir Edward Grey for the death of Benson. The British embassy announced that the British consul at Chihuahua, Texas had been ordered to El Paso.

ICE CAUSING MUCH FEAR

Is Three Feet Thick--Sudden Movement Would Be Bad for Wharves and Bridges.

For the past two weeks ice in the ponds and Great Bay has frozen to a thickness of three feet. So much ice is causing more or less fear among railroad people and owners of wharves. Should the ice break up under a sudden warm spell and begin floating it cannot help causing considerable trouble to bridge piling, etc. It is likely that dynamite will be used to a great extent to move the bridges in this section in case the ice should move suddenly.

POEHLER-WALSH IN THE LEAD

Last Ten Strings of Match Will Be Rolled Tonight in Boston.

The first ten strings of the bowling contest between Earl Poehler and Archie Walsh and John Christopher and A. H. Miller for a purse of $200, were rolled in Boston Monday evening and Walsh and Poehler finished 87 pins ahead of their opponents. Poehler was the high roller of the evening with a total of 1128, and his opponent of many battles in the past, Christopher, was low man with a total of 1010. Poehler's best single was 133 and his average was 112. The last ten strings of the match will be rolled this evening.

IT IS STILL A QUESTION

County Commissioners are Compelled to Go Slow on the New Castle Toll Bridge Matter

Little or no headway has been made by the board of County Commissioners on the matter of taking over the New Castle bridge since the last public hearing was given on the same. It appears to be a question now as to how the notes or money will be provided to meet the figures given by Major Urch. It may be that an act of the legislature will be required or it may be put into the hands of the Rockingham county delegation to decide the question of this appropriation. As soon as it can be done, the board will have a conference with County Solicitor E. L. Guphill and the owners of the bridge before another step is taken. In the meantime, Mr. Guphill will look into the law covering county appropriations and decide what the provision is in such cases.

WOMAN AND CHILD HAVE REMARKABLE ESCAPE

(A runaway with a remarkable escape of a woman and a child created somewhat of a stir on Richards avenue on Sunday evening.)

The horse which performed the stunts was driven by Dennis Long and it started to run away on upper State street and threw the driver out into a snow drift, landing in head first and he was pulled out by people who saw the accident. The horse continued through Union to Austin streets where he collided with a pole and left the pole hanging to the pole, while with shaft hanging to him to increase his speed the horse continued on down Richards avenue taking the sidewalk on the left hand side

Opposite the Grace house, a woman was coming along wheeling a baby carriage and when she saw the horse tearing down the street she made an effort to get out of the way, but the drifts were so high that the horse knocked her down before she could do anything. The carriage was tipped over, but the horse cleared it with a jump, and continued on its way down the avenue.

The woman hastily picked herself up and righted the carriage and found that the child had not been injured in the least, and she had not suffered any ill effects, other than the shock. People who saw the accident thought sure the woman and child would both be badly injured.

Section 3176, revised statutes of the United States, as amended and made part of the income tax laws, give to collectors of internal revenue (they being satisfied as to the merits of the claim and the reasonable exercise of their judgment and discretion) authority to grant extension of time, not to exceed thirty days from the time prescribed by law in which to file a return of net income, and then only in cases where such failure, neglect, or refusal is the result of sickness or absence.

You are also advised, and will so announce, that there will be no change in income tax regulations as they now exist prior to March 1, 1914, and that all persons and corporations required to make a return, which have not as yet done so, should make and file their returns at the earliest opportunity and on or before March 1.

Collectors will forward to this office immediately a report showing the number of returns filed in their respective offices as of Feb. 20, 1914.

As to corporations—For neglect or refusal to make a return within the prescribed time, corporations are liable to a penalty not to exceed $10,000. And in case of neglect or refusal to make, or for a false or fraudulent return made, 100 per cent is to be added to the tax.

And in case of an officer of a corporation or like institution, charged with the duty and responsibility of making and verifying a return, who makes a false or fraudulent return with the intent to defraud or evade any assessment or tax, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to a fine not to exceed $2000 or to imprisonment not to exceed one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, together with costs.

As to individuals—For neglect or refusal to make a return within the prescribed time the penalty is not less than $20 nor more than $1000. MASSACHUSETTS SELECTION FOR B. & M. TRUSTEES

Boston, Feb. 23.—In despatches from Washington Sunday, the names of the men that Governor Walsh presented in the Department of Justice for appointment to the board of trustees of the Boston & Maine railroad stock now held by the New Haven road were made public for the first time. The list follows: Former Chief Justice Knowlton of the Supreme Court, Springfield; Earl H. Fitzhugh, New Haven; James L. Richards, Boston; Charles P. Hall, Newton, and James L. Doherty, Springfield.

Would Not Deny.
In financial circles there was no surprise occasioned by the names. The men were all well known locally as eminently fitted for the position and a number of the business men when interviewed characterized the selection by the Governor as excellent. When the list was read to Governor Walsh last night over the phone at his home in Clinton, the Governor would neither deny nor affirm its accuracy.

Hold Conference Wednesday
Chairman Howard Elliott of the

New Haven railroad directors and other directors of the New Haven will have a conference in Washington Wednesday with Attorney General McReynolds on the plan to turn over the Boston & Maine railroad stock, now held by the Boston railroad holding company, to a board of trustees. This information was given out last night by Assistant Attorney General Thomas W. Gregory at the Copple Plaza hotel, after he had been in communication with the Department of Justice at Washington.

The conference was arranged yesterday and Mr. Gregory said that it is settled that Chairman Elliott and some of the other directors will be present. Governor Walsh may also be present at the conference. He will be informed of it today, and it is expected he will cancel some engagements in Massachusetts, if possible, and arrange to attend. Mr. Gregory intimated that the Governor would be welcome. It is also likely that representatives of New Hampshire and Maine, and possibly Connecticut and Vermont, will be invited to the conference.

LITERARY NOTES

The March Smart Set.

The Smart Set Magazine for March shows signs of a change of policy. The same spirit that has always made Smart Set stories just a little different from those in any other magazine is there, but there is also a noticeable tendency away from the over-realistic and the somber which has characterized some of the recent issues. The whole tone of the magazine seems brighter and more enlivening. There is also a publisher's statement—to the effect that liveliness and sprightliness and cleverness are hereafter to be emphasized, and the comedy side of life played up more strongly; and a hint is thrown out that the April number will contain some interesting innovations along this line.

Richard Le Gallienne contributes an essay on "The Persecutions of Beauty," and makes the statement that for the first time since the days of paganism beauty is becoming one of the ideals of life instead of a thing to be condemned as invariably associated with sin. A clever one-act play of acting possibilities in this issue is "Branded Mavericks," the joint work of Maverick Terrell and H. O. Steadman. Other stories in this March issue include "White-mall," by Joyce Kilmer; "I Will Retire," by Will H. Spaulding; and "The Shadow in the Rose Garden," by D. H. Lawrence. There is some especially good poetry by Donn Byrne, Bliss Carmon, Clinton Scollard, Horace Holley, Louis Untermeyer, Witter Bynner, and Richard Butler Claenzer.

Technical World Magazine for March.

The following is a list of leading articles: "Strong Drink" by Elbert Hubbard; "Democracy Chooses an Autocrat," William W. Newwick; "The Heart of the Mine," poem, by Berton Drayton; "Wireless Fate," George H. Cushing; Henry Ford, His Story in Pictures; "When is Man Old?" by Byron C. Utech; "Beating the Meter," Robert H. Moulton; "The Hoodoo Dry-dock," James Platt; "Establishing the Elephant's Royalty," Warren H. Miller; "Millions of the Cellar," Bailey Millard; "Insurance Across the Counter," Donald Wilhelm; "Solvent's Luck," David A. Wussoni; "Thirteen Knots Through a Typhoon," Louis E. Browne; "Bombs," Charles W. Person; "Made by our Readers," prize winners; and fifty other striking articles.

The March Woman's Home Companion.

The March Woman's Home Companion contains a review of the work already done by that publication in the great campaign for Better Babies, which it has been carrying on for a year and which its Better Babies Bureau under the direction of Anna Steese Richardson is to carry on during the coming year. One hundred thousand babies have already been examined at contests and hundreds of parts of the house. The orchestra which had already begun to play the overture, was compelled to stop, and the performance had to be postponed owing to the uproar.

When the woman finally realized that her outburst would not be tolerated she gathered up her skirts and ran out of the box, shouting "Idiot!" and left the theatre in as dignified a manner as possible.

JOE WOOD WILL BE OUT FOR MONTHS

Two Lakes, Pa., Feb. 23.—Joe Wood, pitcher for the Boston Red Sox of the American league, underwent an operation for appendicitis at his home here early today. The operation was successful and Wood was resting comfortably later in the day, his condition being such as to indicate early recovery.

Wood has been under a physician's care for several weeks but his condition became so serious late Saturday night that the operation was thought necessary and Dr. Cassner and Skinner of Port Jervis, N. Y., were summoned. The Erie railroad stopped the New York to Cleveland express at Port Jervis to make it possible for the physicians to reach Wood without loss of time.

Mrs. Wood and Pete Wood, a brother of Joe, and pitcher for the Lowell, Mass., team of the New England league 1913 champions, were with him at the time of the operation.

The holiday was well observed here, although there was no celebration.

NO MUTINY AT NEWPORT NAVAL STATION

Newport, R. I., Feb. 23.—The report that there had been a mutiny among the naval apprentice seamen at the training station a week ago, was spread by some of them as a joke, according to the findings of an investigation which was completed today.

During the severe cold weather the boys were ordered to stop all outside work. Some of them claimed that "just for a lark" they spread stories that they were so cold they had refused to obey orders to go outside the result of the investigation was forwarded to Washington.

RAILROAD MAN KILLED AT SALIM

Benjamin Churchill, a conductor on a shifter on the Boston and Maine at Salim, was killed on Monday morning after being struck by the Providence Express, which arrived there at 10:27. Churchill, who is an old man, was struck by the express, and thrown in between the wheels of the freight train, in which he was working and several cars passed over him horribly mauling the body. He was not killed by the express simply pushed aside but his fall in between the freight cars was fatal.

A cold wave is promised and at midnight last night it did indeed pour above zero.

ENLISTED IN NAVY TO ESCAPE POLICE

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23.—Almost under the eyes of the police, who have been hunting him since last December, when he is alleged to have killed three persons, Henry Rokowski, of New Homestead, a suburb, enlisted in the navy in this city last Tuesday and was assigned to the battleship Maine.

Today word was received from the United States authorities that the man had been arrested off the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia, on board the vessel.

Rokowski was arrested Dec. 23 by Constable Martin Wendt of West Homestead on complaint of Rokowski's parents, who said he had abused them. While walking ahead of his prisoner Wendt was shot in the back and killed, by Rokowski, it is alleged.

Then going to the home of his sweetheart, he shot her mother, Mrs. Estella Yakabik, it is charged, and fatally wounded Ignatz Baukowski, a neighbor, who ran to their aid. Mrs. Yakabik and Baukowski died in the hospital a few days later.

Rokowski disappeared, and although hunted for many weeks by policemen and posses of citizens, eluded capture until his venture into the navy.

A reward of $500 was offered. It is understood his picture, sent board-capt, led to his identification.

Portsmouth, N. H., Tuesday, February 24, 1914.

A Sound Newspaper Rule.

Newspaper men everywhere will be gratified by the firm stand taken by two members of the staff of a New York paper against an attempt to compel them to disclose the source of information which was the basis of a startling piece of news recently published in the paper. On their refusal to answer the questions put to them the grand jury presented them to United States Judge Hand for contempt of court, but their lips remained sealed.

The news story in question concerned the smuggling case of former Congressman Littauer of New York state and his brother, both of whom were fined and sentenced to imprisonment for smuggling, the prison sentences being suspended. The public is familiar with the case, full particulars having been published at the time in all of the papers.

But the newspapermen who have since been haled before the grand jury got the news of the affair before the government officials were prepared for its publication, and the officials wanted them to tell where they got it. This they properly declined to do, hence the effort to compel them to disclose the source of their information. The government very correctly assumes that there was a "leak" among the customs house officials or employees, but the newspapermen and the paper by which they are employed take the ground that it is not for them to tell where the information came from.

In so doing they live up to one of the oldest and most firmly established of newspaper ethics. It is a rule observed in practically every newspaper office in the land not to disclose sources of information except at its own discretion, and it is a good and wise rule. Newspapers may be held accountable for any damaging publication in their columns, and under these conditions the place and manner of obtaining the news is their business alone. The violation of confidences on the part of a newspaper would not only be personally dishonorable, but would be a ruinous business policy, and such a course is not to be considered for a moment in any well regulated newspaper office.

For this reason the New York paper and its two representatives will be unanimously upheld by the press for honoring a rule whose wisdom and worth have been proved by many years of faithful observance, with results beneficial alike to publishers and the public.

Grocers have always contended that there is very little profit on sugar, but if it is true that a way has been found to manufacture sugar from sawdust there may in time be relief for the man who stands between the cane field and the consumer.

At Cornell university a scientific study is to be made to ascertain the causes of colds. The whole world will wish the effort success, and hope that when the causes have been determined a remedy will be brought to light.

In spite of President Wilson's indifference to the superstition, the "baker's dozen" of Yale university students who have been expelled for different reasons will be inclined to consider 13 an unlucky number.

The bills for clearing the streets of snow promise to be almost as big as the drifts. There is no getting away from the fact that old-fashioned winter weather helps business—in certain directions.

The English peace advocate, Norman Angell, says it would take Japan thirty years to conquer the United States. But of course the fire-eaters will pay no attention to what may be said by a peace advocate.

Of course, reading about "Rube" balls in the cities, in which the participants are dressed as "farm hands," is one of the things that incline the country boys and girls to stick to the farm.

When bandits can hold up a train and secure $260,000, as was done in Alabama the other night, it is entirely within bounds to say that they are engaged in "big business."

Thompsonville, Conn., is very loyal to the Red Cross. So far as heard from, it is the only town in the country that closed out its entire allotment of Red Cross Christmas seals.

Who says the government is not interested in the farmer? The agricultural bill reported to the House carries an appropriation of nearly $19,000,000.

There is no season without its bugaboo. The latest is that the cold weather has sent 90 per cent. of the Connecticut peach crop up the spout.

Notwithstanding the burly-burly of the age, the people have not forgotten the "Father of His Country," or how to honor his memory.

WOULD END THAW PURSUIT

Accounting Is Also Sought From Attorney General Carmody in Matter.

Albany, Feb. 23.—A resolution criticizing Atty. Gen. Carmody for his attitude in endeavoring to have Harry K. Thaw returned to the jurisdiction of New York State was introduced by Assemblyman Golden tonight and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The resolution asks that the Governor and Attorney General be instructed to stop all extradition proceedings and incur no further expense, leaving the Federal government, Thaw's native state of Pennsylvania, and the State of New Hampshire, where he now is, to take such action relating to the fugitive as they may deem proper.

Atty. Gen. Carmody is to be required by the terms of the resolution to render an itemized account of all money expended in the effort to extradite Thaw. He also is asked to explain why various persons confined in asylums for homicides when insane, as was Thaw, have been discharged, and why others have escaped without any serious attempt to capture them.

A FEELING OF ANXIETY

to assist in the inquiry concerning Benton, but in no way to interfere with the American investigation.

Intimations were received through semi-official channels that marines would be landed by Japan and France to act as legation guards in Mexico City along with those of Great Britain and Germany.

That the Huerta government is not averse to the sending of foreign legation guards to Mexico City is known here officially, but the United States for the present at least will not follow the course of other nations.

The whole tenor of the Mexican situation while revealing no unusual activity reflects the same anxiety and perplexing angles which often have characterized it during days of extreme tension.

Attention was chiefly focused on the investigation as to the manner in which William S. Benton met death at Juarez, but details of the affair are still lacking. The report which had been mailed by the American Consul at Juarez, however, has not yet arrived here today. Its contents are being anticipated by telegraphic dispatches giving Villa's version of the affair, and additional details are being sought from General Villa at Chihuahua by American Consul Fletcher.

The attempt to exhume Benton's body through unavailing at yet, expected to bring further evidence.

Just what will be the final judgment of the American officials in the case no one predicts, but it would not be surprising to many in official circles if Villa's explanation went unchallenged in the absence of satisfactory evidence with which to impeach it.

That the American government may pass on to Great Britain the facts as found without indicating any judgment at all in the matter, is considered by some diplomats as a likely course. Steps to obtain better protection for English Nationals then are expected to follow and it is the feature of the case which is provoking a discussion of a possible assertion of policy on the part of the United States which might express itself anew on the subject of protection to foreigners.

That Great Britain might urge her subjects to leave Mexico as did this government is considered plausible, though there is some ground for the belief that the American government may express to the Mexican factions a general warning about the treatment of foreigners, the violation of which it would be pointed out, might lead to grave complications.

The American government feels a peculiar sense of obligation in connection with the safety of foreigners in Northern Mexico having assured those nations which had no consular representatives there that the Washington government would exercise a watchful eye in their behalf. That this does not involve direct responsibility was made clear today by Sir Edward Grey at London and in some quarters tonight the sending of Charles Alexander Spencer Percival, British consul at Galveston, Texas, to El Paso was regarded as a move calculated to relieve the American government to some extent of this task in the section around Juarez.

CURRENT OPINION

End Law's Delays; Complex Procedure Often Defeats Justice.

It has been shown that the actual conditions of the practice of the law today are such that the merits of the controversy are often swallowed up in procedure; the technicalities and overabundance of the administrative features of a lawsuit are so great that the main issue becomes side-tracked, and thereby justice is often not only delayed, but absolutely defeated. In short, the administrative branch of our law has grown too heavy.

As to the remedies, the bar has come to regard it as settled that some branch of the main tribunal should be delegated to strip the controversy prior to its appearance before the trial court of everything but the real issue, and the only difference of opinion existing is as to the best method by which this result may be accomplished, but it is now generally conceded that masters especially competent to deal with procedural matters should be appointed, so that only the matters really in issue will be presented to the trial tribunal, and all this should be speedily, inexpensively and effectively done as soon after the institution of the suit as is consistent with the preservation of the rights and liberties of the suitors.

A constitutional convention will be held in New York soon. There will be a great forum for the discussion of these matters, and there by furthering the selection of delegates competent to consider these important matters and by the prior formulation of a program embodying ideas way, confident that the great mass of the people will stand behind it in taking a step that will be the means of handing down a new freedom—a freedom from the tyranny of procedure, bondage to which you and I have grown accustomed, as it has in no small degree enslaved litigants, lawyers and courts and judges as well.

The foundation stones of all systems for the dispensation of justice should be speed, sureness and simplicity, and the greatest of these is simplicity.—District Attorney Charles S. Whitman of New York City.

WIT OF PUNCH EDITOR

Impromptu Jokes of Veteran Humorist—Delight in Puns.

The wit of Sir Francis Bernard, the grand old man of Punch, is proverbial. As a boy at Eton he distinguished himself for the smartness of his repartee, and it was at the famous public school that he perpetrated a classic in explaining his unwillingness to play football—that he was "more skinned against than shining."

Sir Francis joined the staff of Punch in 1862, and was known as "the new boy" on account of his youth. He succeeded Tom Taylor in the editorial chair in 1880 and in regard to that enviable post he once said that "the life of the editor of a comic journal was not exactly a happy one. For many people seem to imagine that a joke was only to be made and it becomes good enough for Punch."

And talking of jokes, Sir Francis is still fond of telling a story of a conversation he once had with the late Sir W. S. Gilbert. "I suppose you have some good things sent to you sometimes for the paper?" said Gilbert casually. "Oh, yes, occasionally," replied Sir Francis. "Then," said Gilbert earnestly, "why don't you put them in?"

It is an old story, Sir Francis will tell you, but he regards it as one of the best things that Gilbert ever said, although it is against himself.

Sir Francis, by the way, is credited with knowing almost every witty saying or joke under the sun. He told a visitor that the now famous "To those about to marry—Don't!" came from a hitherto unknown contributor, and was seized upon with joy by the editor, who remunerated the author with the handsome sum of £10 for a line and a half.

Once Sir Francis had thoughts of joining the priesthood but after mature consideration he came to the conclusion that he would rather be an actor. His change in place necessitated a visit to Cardinal Manning, who was told by Bernard that he thought the stage and not the church was his vocation. Manning's reply was frigid. "You might as well say that to be a cobbler is a vocation."

"Whereupon," says Sir Francis, "nervously inspired, I burst out: 'Well, a-a-a cobbler has a great deal to do with the sole!'"

It is recorded that even the cardinal smiled.

An impostor once claimed to be Sir Francis' brother. He promptly wrote to say that he had no brother. It was true that he had two half-brothers, but two halves in this case did not make a whole.

"I see you don't know me from Adam," remarked someone who came up to Sir Francis at a certain reception and shook him offensively by the hand. "My dear sir," replied Sir Francis, "I didn't know Adam."

On another occasion he wrote: "There was a dead pause in the room. How long it had been there it is impossible to say."

Sir Herbert Tree keeps among his private correspondence a letter which Sir Francis once wrote him concerning the famous actor's daughter, Viola, who had been taken ill with measles. The letter concludes with these words: "It is a cowardly disclaimer coming in the plural and attacking a defenseless unit. The case, however, can never be singular. Ours being a large family, we had the measles divided among five children—a meane needlework department of the Crafters' place. This lightened the attack but increased the doctor's bill."

An inveterate punster himself Sir Francis naturally delights in the puns of others. He mentions particularly a line in a burlesque entitled, "Conrad and Medora," uttered by the pirate Birbantia, a character most amusingly played by Toole, who scowlingly declared right after night, "What-er I sees upon the seas I seize upon."

In another burlesque, written by the brothers Brough, as a comic version of "The Tempest," Prince Ferdinand staggers, clutches at two balloons, and faintly murmurs—

"Take me below at once, I will to bed. I feel so heavy that I must be dead."

WHAT THEY USED TO EAT

Fashions in Food Change, But Slower Than Fashions in Clothes.

The art in cooking has declined, and that is in part due to the changing fashions in food.

For instance, in Germany in the Middle Ages, many vegetables were eaten which have long since disappeared from the table such as violet leaves mixed with young nettles, thistles and green wheat, and boiled hemp seeds.

Salads were made of mallow leaves, celery roots and purslane mixed with salt and pepper, for oil was almost unknown. Olive oil was considered to smack off effeminacy and Italian luxury. Horseradish sauce was used instead.

The origin of sauerkraut is lost in antiquity. But it certainly was invented by the German hausfrau long before cauliflowers or artichokes or potatoes were known.

The potato revolutionized the fare of the poor, who had formerly to rely on the roots of wild plants. The variety of meats was larger including henners, and in the case of "herne" henners were kept for food. Spices and aromatics were much sought after and far more used for cooking.

Ginger and nutmeg were used to flavor many dishes that have now vanished from our tables. And fortunately in this country and Germany, the dishes of small birds of all kinds that were an essential feature of a dinner have also gone out of fashion. We no longer have black pyras and finches in pies.—New York Times.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—cramp. It has been used with success in our family for eight years."

TIME TO LOOK YOUR TREES OVER

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Feb. 22.—Now is the time for all good farmers to go after the San Jose scale, the blight mite et al. They should be doused with lime sulphur until they expire and then doused again to make sure.

Prof. J. H. Gourley was just issued a bulletin for the orchardists of New Hampshire telling just what poison to use for each pest and how to make the deadly mixture, when to apply it and how to put it where it will do the most good. This bulletin can be had for the asking by anyone who will write to the office of the director of the state experiment station at Durham.

The circular gives the farmers of the state the exact facts they wish to know. The information is condensed and tabulated and the fruit grower can discover at a glance just what mixture his trees need, how to make it, and how to put it on.

Prof. F. W. Taylor and Frank App have just issued a bulletin giving the result of the seed tests in 1913 made for the state board of agriculture. J. M. Jones has published another on Flock Management. Others are "Pruning Fruit" by Prof. J. H. Gourley; "Pruning the Pine Woodlot," by J. H. Foster, and the annual tabulation of the results of the chemical examination of the fertilizers on sale in the state by Prof. D. E. Curry and T. C. Smith. Any of these publications will be sent to anyone on application to the experiment station.

The Woman's League of New Hampshire college has in preparation a play to be given in Thompson Hall the night of Feb. 27. The proceeds are to go to furnish a new and larger room for the women students in Thompson Hall. It is probable that one of the first floor recitation rooms will be made over for this purpose, as the present room is now entirely inadequate to accommodate the women of the college.

Dr. A. E. Richards, of the English department, is coaching the cast in "Rebecca's Triumph." The principals include:

Rebecca, Miss Marion Chase of Seabrook; Mrs. Rokeman. Mrs. Shirley Underdonk of Durham; Mrs. Delaine, Mrs. A. J. Morgan of Durham; Clarissa, Miss Alice Joffin, of Bowdoin; Cyp, Miss Myrtle Johnson of Reeds Ferry; Dora, Miss Gladys McKane of Dover; Katie, Miss Alice Holt of Durham, and Meg, Miss Mary Murphy of Somersworth.

GREEK COUPLE MARRIED ON SUNDAY

On Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock occurred the wedding of Charles Smart and Miss Jessamine Frakonitis, two popular members of the local Greek Colony. The ceremony took place at their new home at the corner of Vaughan and Hanover streets and was performed by Rev. Gregory Panlazio, pastor of the Greek Orthodox church in Dover, and was witnessed by upwards of one hundred guests.

The bride was attractively attired in a dress of white silk, with blue sash and wore a head adornment. The best man was Nicholas Millos. The double ring ceremony was used and at the conclusion of the impressive ceremony the couple were showered with confetti and candy.

Following the ceremony light refreshments of ice cream and fruit punch were served.

The groom is the senior member of the firm of Smart Brothers, who for several years have conducted a fruit and confectionery store on Vaughan street, and both he and his young bride start their married life with the best wishes of a host of friends.

After a short wedding trip to Boston and other Massachusetts cities they will take up their residence on Vaughan street.

FISHER WON FOUR STRAIGHT

Defeated His Opponent in New England Checker Tournament.

Everett M. Fisher and B. G. Hall of this city took part in the big checker match at the American House on Washington's Birthday. It was the largest attended tournament in the history of the Boston Checker club. Mr. Fisher was in good form and took all four of his games from his opponent, Mr. Bagley. Mr. Hall broke even with his opponent, P. Parquereau, each taking two games. The veteran player, George A. Traflet, did not attend the tournament owing to being slightly indisposed.

COURTING IN AUSTRALIA

Among the aboriginal blacks of Australia courtship as the precursor of marriage is unknown.

When a young warrior is desirous of procuring a wife he generally obtains one by giving in exchange a sister or some other female relative of his own; but if there should happen to be an eligible damsel disengaged in the tribe to which he belongs then he hovers around the encampment of some other tribes until he gets an opportunity of seizing one of their lasses, whom perhaps he has seen and admired when attending one of the corroborees.

This mode of paying his addresses is very simple. With a blow of his war club he stuns the object of his affection, and as she recovers her senses brings her home to his own gunyah in triumph. Marumoa, Australia Advocate.

The alumni ode, composed by Miss Ellen Albert Bowden, a member of the class of 1914 of Traip Academy, follows:

Orchestra accompaniment. "Tune, "American."

Friends of our schoolhood days, Help us to chant our lays

In tones sincere, May all our thoughts be bright, Old dull care takes its flight, Let us be filled this night

With songs of cheer.

We had each coming year That bids us gather here, And homage pay, Back to our native State

We love to congregate And there to celebrate Our festive day.

As we asunder part May every loyal heart This strain repeat.

Long may this joyous band, True to their native land, Extend a welcome hand

Traip sons to greet.

Refreshments of ice cream and fancy crackers were then served, after which dancing was enjoyed by the remainder of the evening. The march was led by the president and vice-president, Elmer J. Burnham, and Mrs. E. E. Otis, and there were forty-five couples in line. The order of dances included:

Resolutions were read on the death of C. Alford Bennett and Frank Clarkson.

Mr. James R. Philbrick gave the following most interesting address, holding the chief attention of the audience throughout with his descriptions of the customs and conditions of sixty years ago:

"Sixty Years Ago and Now"

This is an age of progress. Our motto is "Onward," the cry, "Forward, March." There is no retrogression—everything is on a rapid movement, and everybody is anxious to be in the front ranks and get there first.

Things have changed from what they were sixty years ago. I do not just agree with the two close friends, Hans and Fritz. (Here the speaker told a story illustrative of his subject.) As I look back 60 years and more I find that everything has changed—the residents, customs, dress, manner of living, and in fact everything that you can imagine has changed.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," from any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

anywhere in this town who were living together 60 years ago, the death of Robert Newson the past year, breaking up the last couple. They are all gone and the houses that were occupied by them are in the possession of others.

We live better, easier, dress better, and have more of the comforts and blessings of life than they did at that time.

Who of us would wish to go back to the yellow candle, and the sperm-oil lamp, the old kitchen fire-place, the old well sweep, and the pump handle and the stage coach with its two daily trips? The beautiful method of lighting and heating our houses, the privileges of the street cars, street lights and the benefit of our water system are too much enjoyed to wish to go back to the ways and customs of our fathers.

The old shillabala, that what was good enough for our fathers is good enough for us, is played out. If that were true, we today would be living and doing just as they did, and from the fact that we are enjoying more of the blessings of this life is an evidence that we do not believe that what was good enough for our fathers is good enough for us. When we hear some one remark that what was good enough for our fathers is good enough for us, we do not hear them say they would like to go back to the old-time hours and wages. Our fathers worked from sun to sun, sixteen hours a day for 37 cents. I had one of the best of fathers and mothers, who provided one of the best of homes, but the comforts and conveniences I have in my home were not there.

How would we like to go from place to place as they did? Most everyone near the water had their own wherry or skiff, and went mostly by water, where it was possible, propelled by their own muscular power. Do you think you would like to strap your motor boat for those boats that were good enough for our fathers? If you should, methinks there would not be so many pleasure parties on the river in summer.

The first steamboat that I ever saw on our river was in 1853. The most of us will remember the old wooden dry dock. It was built on Pierce's Island and when finished and ready to be brought to the yard, a steamer, the R. B. Forbes, came from Boston and towed it to the yard. I presume there had been steamboats on the river before, but that is the first that I know of.

I now speak of something that I am sorry to say has ceased to exist. At that time it was not an uncommon sight to see eight or ten clipper ships being built on the banks of our river in Kittery and Portsmouth, and ships were loaded, some with coal, West India goods, lumber and in fact with everything that was included in trade. I have seen vessels loaded with loose corn discharging its cargo where the ferry boat lands in Portsmouth. These ships went up and down this river without the aid of a tug. But how different now. It is very seldom that you see a vessel of any kind but what has a tug to assist. Many of these ships were commanded by citizens of Kittery. Our town was famous for its sea captains, seamen and shipbuilders. Some of the fastest clipper ships were Mr. Boulter's, and shed now stands and there is where I did my first day's work in the ship yard. I have also launched about several ships from that yard.

It is with a degree of pleasure that I remember those, Samuel Badger, John Neal, Chandler Brooks, John Matthews, and also the sea captains, J. Trefethen, T. Weeks, Ed. Gerlan, Cotta Lockes, Brian, the Peabody's and others.

I once heard the late Oliver Cook say that at one time two hundred sail of vessels were owned here, and he claimed that the government in locating the navy yard, had much to do with the decline of this business. He said that Kittery Point would have been what Cape Ann is if it had not been for the navy yard, but as to the truth of that I do not know.

And here is another thing that I am sorry has occurred. In the back part of our town were farms where large families were raised, but today there is nothing to show that anyone ever lived there, except what remains of the old cellars. All buildings all gone, no farms put over to woods and bushes. The old people have crossed the river and the younger ones have fled to the cities. This is a sad mistake. The cities are getting overcrowded, and the farms are now productive.

Notwithstanding that our town has more than doubled and there are more families than then, yet our population is no larger. But you ask, how is that? Simply because the families are much smaller than they were then. Families would average eight or ten, now from two to four. I belonged to a family of ten children, my wife one of 13, my father one of 11, and my mother one of 8. Forty-five children in four families, we do not see many of those kind today.

Now as to the schools. I think it was 45 years ago that I first went to school. Rev. George M. Payne, who was pastor here for 18 years, was both preacher and teacher. I remember my brother Henry took me with him, and as he was one of the oldest scholars he had a book seat, and he took me with him to his seat, and I remember the first thing that I did when he went to recite his lesson, leaving me alone in the seat, was to get his hat and put it on. It was one he had made from the skin of some animal, covered with black hair, two or three inches long. It was about a foot long and ran up to a peak at the top. You can judge it created a laughter, and being small the teacher did not wish to punish me, so he took me and put me in the seat with my sister and Mrs. M. E. Tilton. At that time the girls wore bonnets that were called sugar-scoops. They were made of straw and as I remember them I should say that they were about a foot long. The girls had no counter going to recite their lessons before I was moved away to one of their sugar scoops, and another burst of laughter was heard throughout the school room. The teacher himself had to smile to see me in that bonnet. It was almost big enough for a crane for me to sleep in. He said he guessed he would have to do something else with me, for that suited me too well. What he did I do not remember.

Your schools today are far different from what they were then. The modes of punishment that were inflicted in those days would not be tolerated for a single instant. I remember Dr. Alcker, who taught would bring his middle finger or middle chest, would be called on, and leave the school in charge of the other ones. I have seen him take a boy and face him to the school, with stick in between his teeth and threaten to sew up his mouth if he did not stop whispering. John Sweet, another teacher, punished this same boy for whispering, by tying his hair, which was worn long in those days) into a knot and putting his fingers into the knot, dunked him up and down before the school.

Scholars consisted from four to twenty-one. What would you think of attending a school of that kind? It would be considered brutal for the little ones to sit in the school room six hours and only be called out twice a day for about five minutes each time for the purpose of learning their letters. I have had many a nap in school. Just think of from ten to fifteen little heads laying on their desks sleeping soundly. This was a common occurrence.

After the high school was instituted things were different. When we look back over the past and see what a great benefit they have been, and note that magnificent work that has been accomplished, it is with pride that we look over the country and in our large cities and towns and find among the most successful, those who went out from old Armory Hall. Among them we note D. W. Fernald.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow this Portsmouth Citizen's Advice

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinal disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and not time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kidney trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.

Doan's Kidney Pills is a good remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has acted effectively in many cases in Portsmouth. Follow the advice of a Portsmouth citizen.

Dr. A. Berry, 147 Congress Street, Portsmouth, N. H., says, "One of our family is employed on the railroad and the constant jolting and jarring of the cars weakened his kidneys. His back was very lame and at times his whole body became sore. Learning that Doan's Kidney Pills were a sure remedy for kidney complaint, he procured a box at Philbrick's drug store and began using them. Before long a cure followed. From that day in this kidney trouble has not returned. I also use Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of lameness in my back and strengthened my kidneys."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't ship by mail for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Berry recommends. Foster-McBurn Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW HAMPSHIRE WANTS TO BE REPRESENTED

Governor Felker in Conference Over Trustees for B. & M. Stock Held By New Haven--Maine Also Rep- resented.

Boston, Feb. 22. Thomas W. Gregory of the Department of Justice at Washington held a conference with Maine and New Hampshire men on the proposed plan to separate the Boston & Maine and New Haven Railroad through the medium of trustees at the Conley-Plaza.

Those who discussed the matter with Mr. Gregory were Gov. Samuel D. Felker of New Hampshire and F. W. Hartford of Portsmouth, a member of the New England Railroad Conference and two representatives of Gov. William T. Haines of Maine, Weston Lewis of Augusta and E. B. Winslow of Portland.

Both Mr. Lewis and Mr. Winslow are directors in the Maine Central Railroad and Mr. Winslow is also in the directorate of the Boston & Maine. Mr. Gregory in coming from Washington was preceded by S. M. Swacker, a special attorney in the Department of Justice. Mr. Gregory told the reporters that it was a secret conference and he would have no statement to make.

Gov. Felker said he had submitted a list of six New Hampshire men from which to select one or more trustees. He said the reporters that New Hampshire would surely have one representative in the trusteeship and hoped to have two. He also stated that the conversation with Mr. Gregory was chiefly as to the personnel of the board.

"It is largely a financial problem" he said, "and it is therefore necessary to appoint a trustee who knows where to go for money." He asked that he believed there would be five trustees in all, although there was some talk of reducing the number to three.

Mr. Hartford conversed with Mr. Gregory for about 10 minutes. It is understood that, besides the list of possible New Hampshire trustees submitted by Gov. Felker, a list was also sent by Ex-Senator William B. Chandler of Concord, N. H.

Gov. Haines sent no names of Maine men, and when Mr. Lewis and Mr. Winslow were seen by Mr. Gregory they were asked to suggest a possible Maine trustee. The name of a Waterville man was presented, and the two delegates asked him over the long-distance telephone if he would accept. Both the name and the man's decision were withheld.

Mr. Gregory, Mr. Swacker and Commissioner Anderson called on Gov. Walsh about 1.30 remaining about an hour. Gov. Walsh said afterward that the call was largely a social one, although the names of some of those recommended as trustees were discussed.

Mr. Gregory later stated that he would be in Boston today and tomorrow, and that he might see Chairman Elliott while here.

Hon. Elmer P. Spafford of Portland a member of the Maine Railroad Commission, arrived in Boston yesterday afternoon and at once secured an interview with Mr. Gregory. Mr. Spafford explained that he, too, has been directed by Gov. Haines to confer with the special attorney of the Department of Justice. He impressed on that official the importance of the whole proposed Government action to the commercial interests of Maine.

Mr. Spafford pointed out the fact that the mileage of the Maine Central Railroad in Maine alone is about one-half of that of the entire Boston and Maine Railroad system, and that Maine is second to no other New England state. Mr. Spafford will meet Mr. Gregory again today.

TWELVE HUNDRED MARINES READY AT VERA CRUZ

Vera Cruz, Mexico, via Galveston, Texas, Feb. 23.—Additional American marines soon to arrive here will make available in Vera Cruz a force of at least 1,200 men. This concentration of men indicates the fixed determination of the United States government to meet such conditions as may arise in Mexico City without permitting the co-operation of British, German, Spanish or other international forces.

Should an expeditionary force be dispatched to Mexico City it will be made up of American troops exclusively. Strong pressure has recently been brought to bear on John Lind and Rear Admiral Fletcher to permit British marines to participate in the movement should such an advance become necessary but Rear Admiral Craddock the British commander, has been informed unequivocally that the American policy would not permit of such co-operation.

The purpose of calling for the additional force of marines from gulf ports is to give no excuse to other powers to urge participation in the advance on the ground that the American strength is inadequate.

American marine officers have been over every inch of the road between here and Mexico City in regularity, and every detail is now perfected for a landing party and a speedy advance to relieve the legations should disorder in the capital compel it.

Unless opposition is met in the shape of the railroad wrecking authorities the navy believe the expedition could push through to Mexico City in thirty-six hours.

The commander of the German cruiser President has been ordered to the German Legation in Mexico City, two machine guns and 40,000 rounds of ammunition. Accompanying the ship went a squad of bluejackets from the Dragoon in civilian dress.

The detail of bluejackets on duty at the American consulate here was withdrawn today and replaced by a squad of picked marines under the command of a sergeant. This step was taken after General Gustave Maass, commander of the federal forces here, had been notified and had given his consent.

discovered, and possibly was suffocated, for the burns were not sufficient to cause instant death.

The unfortunate woman was washing and was using a small oil stove under the boiler. It is supposed that the water boiled over and the stove either exploded or flared up so that her clothes became ignited and in her struggle to check the flames she set fire to some paper waste material in the cellar, and the smoke from the fire suffocated her before she could reach the stairs. She was somewhat crippled for the past few years but able to get around.

Mrs. Jellison was 63 years of age, a native of Rye, but has resided in this city for many years. She leaves a son, Percy, of this city, and two brothers, V. E. H. Murden of this city and Louis Murden of Beverly.

The fire burned the floor, into the dining room and kitchen, and ran up through the partitions into the upper rooms. The damage will not exceed $400.

At the time of the accident her son was in Boston and he did not receive word of his mother's death until he arrived at the depot at 5.20 Monday afternoon. The body of Mrs. Jellison had been cared for by neighbors who were greatly shocked at the horrible death of a woman who was greatly liked by everybody.

The attendance was the largest of the series of subscription parties. Refreshments of ices were served during the evening. The next assembly will be held on March 12.

A REAL NERVE AND BODY-BUILDING MEDICINE

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run-down, tired-out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood and, through the blood, into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness. To convalescents, old people, puny children and all others who are weak, run-down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't have the utmost faith in it, we wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, nor even recommend it to you. We are sure that once you have used it you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00.—Hoardman & Norton, opp. Post Office, Portsmouth, N. H.

Often some unsuspected habit, such as coffee drinking, is the root of the trouble.

The average coffee drinker who suffers from sleeplessness, headache, indigestion, nervousness or heart trouble usually says, "Coffee doesn't hurt me," until some day Nature hauls him up with a jerk.

It's poor business to trade health and a clear brain for a few cups of coffee.

SOME WHO WOULD LIKE TO REPRESENT THE STATE

Washington, Feb. 23.—Representative Stevens and E. G. Niles, chairman of the New Hampshire public service commission, visited the department of justice and held a long conference over the proposed trusteeship of the Boston & Maine railroad. Mr. Niles stated that the affairs of the railroad were closely interwoven with state interests and that the people of New Hampshire were vitally interested. New Hampshire was the only state represented before the department, but it is expected that an opportunity will be given other New England states to appear before a decision is rendered.

It is learned that a number of New Hampshire men were suggested to the department as suitable trustees. Among the names were Allen Hobbs, Concord; Duncan Upham, Claremont; Judge Robert J. Peaslee, Manchester; James E. Runkle, Littleton; Frank J. Carpenter, Manchester; Robert L. Manning, Manchester; Roland Spaulding, Rochester; and George H. Moses of Concord. Just who handed in the above list is not made public, but it is stated that it might properly have been submitted by the railroad, the department of justice, the public service commission, the members of the New Hampshire congressional delegation or by any interested parties. It is expected that a board of either three or five trustees will be decided upon.

TO FORM REPUBLIC IN NORTHERN MEXICO

That a scheme for the formation of a new republic in Northern Mexico is being seriously considered was reported from Chihuahua last night. The proposed republic is to include five states.

Official Washington was beginning to believe that the killing of W. S. Benson ultimately would destroy the American policy of solving the Mexican situation through placing General

Recovered from Lung Trouble—Now Insured

Insurance companies will not accept any one afflicted with Lung Trouble. When you know a man who has been afflicted and who later has been insured, such action means that the policyholder must be in a very good state of health. Cases have been reported when Lung Trouble, after taking Beckman's Alternative, a remedy for Lung and Lung Troubles, have successfully passed the medical test of insurance companies. Read this case.

237 Fifth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: About a year and a half ago I noticed that my health was rapidly failing. I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak, having in fact, absolutely no ambition whatever. About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of Lung Trouble. At this point I started to take Beckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became less and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have just been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Beckman's Alternative."

Beckman's Alternative has been proved by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe throat and lung affections. It cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Stomach Colds and in unobstructing the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of its merits, and write to Beckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and in Portsmouth by Benjamin Green.

Carranza in power. In the meantime, the constitutionalists were active in issuing to the press telegrams from General Villa stating his defense for the killing. Other telegrams said Mr. Huerta's record in Chihuahua was that of a quarrelsome man and the charge was made that he was guilty of having "mistreated" persons on his march to the extent of taking their lives.

Some of the London morning papers showed no disposition to take hasty or extreme views of the killing of Mr. Benson and censured suspension of judgment pending the American inquiry.

A regiment of United States marines, 1,300 strong, is concentrated in Vera Cruz ready for a quick advance on Mexico City should disorders in the capital menace foreign legations.

Semi-official organs of the administration expressed the opinion editorially that the Benson killing would lead to the abandonment of recognition of the rebels by the United States.

FIFTEEN AMERICANS REJECTED BY VILLA.

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 23.—General Villa will have no more of Americans. Instead of being the open and enthusiastic advocate of all things American and all Americans from President Wilson to the street cars on the Juarez line, General Villa has developed a strong antipathy to Americans. In believed by many here that the proposition for an independent republic is being seriously considered by them and others.

Reports emanating from Mexico City that the federal garrison at Torreon has been strengthened to a point where it can make a formidable resistance, have added impetus to the idea of a separation of the North from the South and General Carranza's coming to Chihuahua from the Pacific coast is looked on as possibly indicating an early adoption of the plan.

Many rebel leaders profess to believe that whatever the outcome of the present revolution, the North and South will soon be completely severed. The North, they assert, already is politically independent and has adopted a progressive attitude wholly at variance to conditions in the south, where two factions—the indifferent and the adherents of the old Diaz regime—predominate.

Embraces Five States.

The territory which it is said might be formed into a separate republic embraces the five states along the United States border—Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, with possibly the inclusion of Sinaloa. From practically all this territory the Huerta army has been driven out, the chief remaining strong general and those who are trying to break into his army in particular. Today he ordered fifteen Americans, who have followed him from Juarez in an effort to enlist for his campaign before Torreon, back to Juarez and their own side of the international line.

General Villa simply said that he did not want any more Americans around him, and when General Villa says anything he sees that what he indicates is the wish of the majority.

The Americans are going back to the border on the first military train moving, and they have been warned not to return and spread the news that no help wanted advertisements are running in General Villa's state papers.

For a New Republic

A scheme for the formation in northern Mexico for a new republic is now being perfected, according to persistent reports which were in circulation here today.

Certain rebel leaders intimate that the delay of the constitutionalists against Torreon is due to the scheme for the divorce of Southern Mexico. While General Carranza, civil head of the revolution, and General Villa, the military leader, disclaim any part in an arrangement which does not include the overthrow of Huerta, it is held by the federalists at Tampico on the east, Monterey, Saltillo and Torreon on the south, Guaymas on the west and Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras on the north.

A FLAG ASSOCIATION APPARENTLY MUCH NEEDED

A few weeks ago there was a stirring article in your paper headed "Stand by Our Flag." This morning I walked through the principal streets of this grand old historic town to view the display of that emblem of our country's greatness on this anniversary of the birth of Washington. It made me fairly heart sick to find that our flag was conspicuous by its absence. The town was almost bare. On the whole of State street there were only four or five flags, two grand ones on the Rockingham Hotel, Daniel Street, the whole length, not one save that of the G. A. R. Middle street, not one visible except a decoration on the Sinclair Inn, Market street (two only). Richards avenue half a dozen. Congress street, one line one on the Granite State building and one on the Kearsarge Hotel. Other streets showed the same lack, but I was glad to see that the Gov. Langdon house showed its colors.

Where has the pride of our country and city departed? Why cannot a Flag Association be formed to stir up the patriotism of the children, if nothing more?

PENOBSCOT BAY FROZEN SOLID

Bangor, Me., Feb. 23.—Upper Penobscot bay, which has been full of floating ice for some days was frozen completely across today from Port Point in the Castine shore, and navigation to Bucksport and Winterport is suspended.

For a week or more the Boston steamer has been assisted by tug breaking a channel from Adams' ledge in Bucksport, but today the tug could make no impression on the ice, and the steamer Belfast from Boston, could get no further than Searsport.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts, To Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You—Drink Lots of Water

Eating meat regularly evidently produces kidney trouble in some form or other says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of disorders, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water for a few days before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia; and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

HEAD AND NOSTRILS STUFFED FROM COLD

Pape's Cold Compound Ends Cold and Grippe in Few Hours—Tastes Nice—Acts Gently

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves aching headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, fatigues and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffing. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as Pape's Cold Compound, which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tasteless and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

WENT THROUGH HELL GATE WITHOUT PILOT

New York, Feb. 23.—With her captain stricken senseless in the pilot house as she was passing through one of the most dangerous water channels along the Atlantic coast, the sound steamer, Chester W. Chapin, from Bridgeport, escaped mishap through good fortune and the prompt action of the mate, pursuing safely through the eddies and over the rocks of Hell Gate with none of her 125 passengers aware of the danger.

William Hogan of Fall River, Mass., master of the vessel, had discovered earlier that the rudder did not respond well to the steering wheel. Temporary repairs had been made and the speed of the vessel reduced. When at the head of Hell Gate the ship swung hard to port and the wheel suddenly spun back with such violence that Capt. Hogan was forced to release his hold on it.

Simultaneously he lost his balance and was thrown to the floor, one of the spike-spokes of the wheel striking him on the head as he fell.

The accident had been seen by the mate, who made every effort to get the wheel under control, but failed at first. With the aid of two quartermasters he finally succeeded in bringing the vessel back to her course.

Physicians, who examined Capt. Hogan said that he suffered from concussion of the brain. His condition is not regarded as serious, however.

VIOLENT STORM IS SWEEPING COUNTRY

Washington, Feb. 23.—A violent storm sweeping across the continent from Colorado tonight, according to the weather bureau, will cause rain tomorrow in the southern states and snow in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, the lake regions and the northern Atlantic states tomorrow.

"This disturbance," the bureau's bulletin said, "will be followed by a pronounced cold wave, which will spread the Mississippi valley, the southern states and the lake region Monday and the eastern and southern states by Tuesday. Following this storm the weather will become fair and remain so for several days in the region east of the Rocky mountains.

"A general change to warmer weather will set in over the northwestern states about Tuesday and this will spread eastward over the eastern states by Wednesday and Thursday.

"The next disturbance due to cross the country will appear on the north Pacific coast Monday or Tuesday, cross the eastern states Thursday. This disturbance will be attended by snow in northern and probably rain in the southern states east of the Rocky mountains."

Sacramento Launched

The gunboat Sacramento, which was originally assigned to the Portsmouth yard as home port and changed to Philadelphia, was launched at the Cramp shipyard on Saturday. She was christened by Miss Phoebe Briggs daughter of Dr. Elory Briggs, of Sacramento, California, and the champagne she splashed against the ship's bow was the product of the Sacramento Valley.

The Sacramento is 225 feet 8 inches long. Her contract calls for a speed of 12 knots an hour.

FIRST ANNUAL AUTO SHOW.

Dates Have Been Fixed to Hold It
Here on March 5, 6 and 7.

Portsmouth is going to have an auto show and the dates as arranged are March 5, 6 and 7. This will be Portsmouth's first annual auto show and it should attract a large attendance from this section of New Hampshire and Maine. Full plans and details will be announced in these columns very shortly.

FIREGRAPHS

Lost, strayed or stolen, one steam fire engine. Any information concerning the same will be thankfully received by the over anxious members of the Col. Sise Company.

The fact that the equipment of hose that was on runners, prevented a serious conflagration on the night of February 17th.

It has been demonstrated that auto apparatus cannot be depended for quick work with the streets in their present condition.

The ladder truck has been placed on runners and no doubt will make good time if called upon.

Hose No. 3 from the central station is attending to the still alarms at present.

We notice the veteran firemen are still looking for the old crowd house.
Will they get it? We hope not. They want too much.

There seems to be lots of anxiety in regard to that State Armory, but not a word about a new fire station.
